10:00	Welcome – Introduction by Mike Ryan i-UG Chairman in THE MANDERS SUITE
10:20 to 11:20	Beyond Modernisation - Koen Decorte (CD Invest) For many people, the term "Modernisation" means simply adding a pretty interface to an existing application. And while this can improve a system's usability, we are finding now that companies are beginning to embrace new technologies and sources of information to enable them to add key functionality to their IBM i applications and add value to their business. And with modern programming languages this may be easier & less costly than we think. Today Koen will demonstrate some examples of what can be achieved with a little imagination.
11:20	Refreshments – A break for tea/coffee in THE GREAT HALL
	Elective Stream 1.... in THE GREAT HALL / Elective Stream 2.... in THE MANDERS SUITE
11:45 to 12:30	Python Update - Tracy Eastwood (Logicmate) Python is used successfully in thousands of real-world business applications around the world, including many large and mission critical systems. What makes it so successful and how might you utilise it in your workplace? Customer Service with IBM i : Case Studies – John Taylor (Typex) The Customer Service experience can make or break your organisation. The data to enhance it may be on your IBM i. Come and hear the latest about how three very different UK customers integrate their IBM i systems.
12.30	A 10 minute break to allow Lunch to be set up & served
12:40	Lunch & Networking – Continue your discussions over a relaxed buffet lunch in THE GREAT HALL
13:40 To 14:25	Manage Your Open Source - Andy Youens (Formaserve) IBM has changed how you manage your open source software. They no longer use PTFs to install/update, new versions of this type of software. Andy will show you how easily it is to stay on top of Open Source. We will also be taking a look at IBM's new repository for everything Open Source on the IBM i. Don't let this stand in the way of using all these new features that are now available to us. Embrace Open Source on the IBM i... you will benefit. Power 9 Refresh – Stuart Stebbings (Arrow ECS) Along with the release of the new POWER 9 Processors there have been a number of announcements throughout the year and today Stuart will give us a summary of the current options available. He will also update us on the latest Technology Refreshes.
14:30 to 15:15	Client Access is Dead...Long Live ACS - Steve Bradshaw (Rowton IT) in THE MANDERS SUITE The latest version of the IBM i Access Client Solutions (ACS) package consolidates the most commonly used tasks for managing your IBM i into one simplified location and is available to customers with an IBM i software maintenance contract. In this presentation, Steve will show us why you should be moving from older versions and how you should plan to do it.
15:15	Close
15:30	Join us over a coffee to discuss and to help plan future events

How did you rate the meeting overall?
